The Case for American Competitiveness

An Intimate Reception with Dr. Jan Rivkin and Vice Admiral Lee Gunn, USN (Ret.)

The American Security Project, ASP, the preeminent think tank devoted to broadening the public discourse on American security in the 21st century, and the HBS Club of D.C. are proud to co-sponsor a reception for HBS professor Dr. Jan Rivkin, as well as prominent military leaders, Vice Admiral Lee Gunn, President of ASP; Brigadier General Stephen A. Cheney, CEO of ASP; and Lieutenant General John Castellaw, a member of ASP's board. This reception culminates the American Competitiveness Day, a joint initiative between ASP and the HBS Club of D.C., to inform a bipartisan discourse on Capitol Hill on HBS's U.S. Competitiveness Project and ASP's American Competitiveness Report: An Issue of National Security.

Dear Harvard Club Members,

At our annual meeting in June, I was again reminded of the depth and breadth of opportunities and activities our Club supports. Our schools committee organizes interviews of nearly a thousand applicants to Harvard College each year – we offer each and every applicant from the Washington area who applies to Harvard an interview with local alumni. We support scholars from Harvard who are interning for non-profits here in Washington each summer. We volunteer and coordinate volunteers for local philanthropy and community organizations throughout the year. We build bonds of friendship and strengthen ties among our alumni through embassy events, tennis tournaments, book clubs, and so many more activities.

None of this would be possible without your support. As we start the summer, I ask you to consider how you might help our Club better serve and the Harvard alumni community here in Washington:

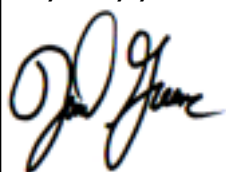

- If you aren't already a member of the Harvard Club of Washington, please consider joining.
- If you are already a member of our Club, please consider joining at a Sponsor or Patron level – or simply making an additional charitable gift to our Club above and beyond your dues.
- Please consider asking your employer to make a charitable match of your dues or other donations to the Club.
- If you have classmates or other Harvard friends who are not members of the Club, please encourage them to join. A personal appeal is often both appreciated and effective.
- Please participate in our Club events, and please bring guests – especially as a way to introduce prospective members to the Club.
- Consider taking a leadership role around a particular event – we always welcome your help.
- Consider creating a new event for our Club – we welcome ideas for new events and your ideas for making our events better.

Your dues and your additional donations to the Club are fully tax deductible. The Harvard Club of Washington DC is recognized as a 501(c)(3) charitable organization. We receive no funding from Cambridge to support the good work that our Club does to support our communities here in Washington and back in Massachusetts.

Your time and your service to the Club is equally appreciated – however and whenever you can provide it.

If you have any questions about how you can better support the Harvard Club financially, or to volunteer your time and ideas to the Club, please call me at 202.337.1300 or e-mail me at president@harvard-dc.org.

Very truly yours,

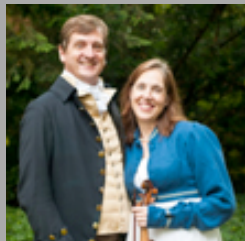

David Greene AB '91, MBA '96
President, Harvard Club of Washington, DC

The Battle Hymn of the Republic

Book-signing and Discussion with Harvard Professor, John Stauffer

Perhaps no other song has held such a profoundly significant place in America's history and cultural memory as "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." In this illustrated program with musical examples, John Stauffer and Benjamin Soskis show how this Civil War tune has become an anthem for subsequent causes. A book-signing will follow the program.

John Stauffer is a leading authority on antislavery, social protest movements and, interracial friendship. He is a Harvard University Professor of English and American Literature and African American Studies, and Chair of the History of American Civilization program at Harvard.

The Harvard Club of Washington DC is a 501c(3) organization and does not receive financial support from the University. Funds raised from these events will support the Harvard Club in its charitable mission, including the sponsorship of summer stipends for college students to work at other DC area non-profits. Because the Harvard Club must pay expenses for events in advance, we require at least one week notice to issue any event registration refunds. If you find you cannot attend an event less than a week prior to the event, you may transfer your registration to another member of the Harvard community with notification to Caren Pauley, Harvard Club
